FY2011 Q1 -- RT Ticket Feedback / Client Satisfaction Survey Results

Interpreting the Report

The scores and charts on the first two pages show cumulative averages over 12 weeks of client responses to our per-ticket survey questions. Each ticket belongs to a specific queue, and scores are reported at the queue level on page 3. The IS&T level rolls up all the surveys; Service Desk rolls up many CSS queues; Call Center is a subset of that and excludes the Repair Center, which is shown on its own. For all the charts, the 12-week window rolls forward each week, and the scores are always across that window.

The multiline charts try to convey the rhythm of service performance over time and the relative levels of satisfaction by service dimension. A high-performing service would have all its lines flowing consistently at or above 4.5 and not too far apart from each other.

Some queues have survey responses too intermittent to graph with weekly readings; those are show using only summary numbers for each dimension. The numbers are 12-week averages.

Detailed results by month by queue are shown on the third page showing up to 3 months and resetting at the beginning of the quarter. Color-

all-Os-surveys xisb RT Ticket Feedback / Client Satisfaction Survey Results

These Queues have low enough response rates per week that a weekly graph would be misleading.

All scores presented are a Quarterly average, to smooth out sparse data. Monthly detail appears in the table on the next page.

Note: the big box score of "Overall Satisfaction" refers to question 7 on the survey, not an aggregate of the other scores listed below.

		1310635		Problem resolution was very good .
		1310033	5.00	There was a 3 business day delay between my filing the ticket

				In general instruct your staff to speak slowly, and clearly. It is especially difficult when dealing with staff members who are not native English speakers. Many tend too garble their words and speak at a pace appropriate to their own native language 1308515	3.33	which is very often fast relative to that common in US.
				Only thing I can think of is to be even quicker, although you Webmail was intermittently hosed over the weekend. I just 8/3/2010	Help Desk::Service Center	1299782		initial issue, which was my computer crashing followed by the fan running, occurred the day my computer was returned.  However, I have not had an issue since.

	Help Desk::Stellar	1304236	0.83	My overall dealings with Stellar this week have been horrible. There has been complete confusion about a simple request to provide websites for multiple sections of a class (21W.730) taught by different instructors. In addition, when I applied for a website for my other course, SP.401, Intro to Women's and Gender Studies, I was told that the course wasn't listed in the registrar's schedule. When I found the listing in about 5 seconds and sent it to Stellar, I was told that the problem was that the course was listed as SP-401, when it should have been SP.401. That may or may not be true, but wouldn't it make sense to check under SP.401? The impression is that these transactions are being handled completely by machine and not by an individual. Very, very poor service.
				The ticket (requesting information) was logged on July 29th and I was contacted about the ticket about a week later. During that time, I was able to address my issue dealing directly with external (SAP) technical resources (I probably should have closed the ticket at that point). The support I receive from the Network team is usually very good an understanding as to the

			No complaints overall. it was frustrating to have problems with the VPN to begin withI spent a lot of time and money trying to sort out this problemonly to learn it was systemic, rather than a personal problem with my own computer/modem/internet connection speed. Perhaps this 1273537	4.17 were really unable to help, as there was nothing they could do.

		1262807	The staff wouldn't believe there was a localized technical problem with a routine network service. They had to be told many times by multiple people over the course of a month that a network service wasn't properly configured. Backchannel emails on the tickets that leaked to the users indicated that the staff believed the users who were having trouble were simply incompetent and sought to forward the issue to a call center instead of thoroughly investigated whether there was an actual problem. It finally involved the recruitment of multiple administrators at a high level to get the issue addressed. This was a very dissatisfying experience for sure.
			Not having uploaded (large) files for ftp for several, having gotten lazy/used to just using web browsers for ftp downloads and email for sending, I needed a quick refresher on using Fetch for uploading. A quick lesson during a brief walkin was all I needed — both the official help desk person and other staff present were friendly, professional, and efficient. One suggestion, though — an FAQ that browsers generally can be used for downloading larger files these days, but that Fetch (or the Windows etc equivalent) is still needed for uploading, would have saved the trip in the first place. I know — I looked

ľ		1291754	5.00 They did a fine job.  They did change the hard drive (this was the actual hard problem) but the hard drive comes without a boot partition so I was not able to even turn the computer on. I guess this is a Dell problem but from my point of view the ticket was not resolved

Г					While I realize the issue was one that was outside MIT Help request to have someone check on the service. Then the response did not indicate whether anything might have been done in those 24 hours to fix the problem simply that at that point it looked like it was working. The problem I had reported had in fact gone away, but the update service was still not working at the time that I got the response. Instead, any attempt to run up2date produced the dreaded message to the effect that the metafile had a bad checksum. I tried using "yum clean" followed by "yum update" to make sure that the problem was not something at our end. That didn't fix it. This condition had happened in my experience numerous times in the past and it was always corrected when the MIT satellite was put back into synchronization with the RedHat servers. It was because of this ongoing problem that we had switched most of our servers over from the MIT satellite service to using the paid-for commercial serv! ice directly from RedHat. I did not report this problem, in part due to past failures to get anything done about
