

Interpreting the Report

The scores and charts on the first two pages show cumulative averages over 12 weeks of client responses to our per-ticket survey questions. Each ticket belongs to a specific queue, and scores are reported at the queue level on page 3. The IS&T level rolls up all the surveys; Service Desk rolls up many CSS queues; Call Center is a subset of that and excludes the Repair Center, which is shown on its own. For all the charts, the 12-week window rolls forward each week, and the scores are always across that window.

The multiline charts try to convey the rhythm of service performance over time and the relative levels of satisfaction by service dimension. A high-performing service would have all its lines flowing consistently at or above 4.5 and not too far apart from each other.

Some queues have survey responses too intermittent to graph with weekly readings; those are show using only summary numbers for each dimension. The numbers are 12-week averages.

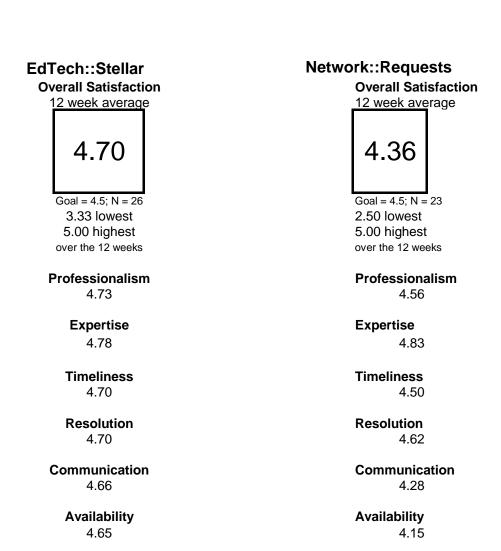

Detailed results by month by queue are shown on the third page showing up to 3 months and resetting at the beginning of the quarter. Color-

These Queues have low enough response rates per week that a weekly graph would be misleading.

All scores presented are a Quarterly average, to smooth out sparse data. Monthly detail appears in the table on the next page.

Note: the big box score of "Overall Satisfaction" refers to question 7 on the survey, not an aggregate of the other scores listed below.

				This laboratory is open 24 hours to researchers that pay by the hour to use the instrumentation. Losing internet connection makes this laboratory practically unusable. Any down time has consequences. This problem was noticed on Friday and I was told it was not corrected until Monday morning. I appreciate that everyone at IS&T did a terrific job and the timing was 1341571	2 50	Overall my computer was repaired well (as in the fan is now working). The staff were professional and I assume they had the expertise since they repaired it. They also checked first if I had a warrantee, which is good. However, I am dissatisfied that I wasn't given the correct time frame when I consulted them. I was told it would take 3-5 days to repair my computer, when in the end it took 2 weeks, and I didn't get an email or any notification clarifying this. Even at 3-5 days, I was very reluctant to hand in my computer as I really needed it to work. Many lecture materials are online, and project groups tend to communicate by email and wiki. I understand that at this time of the year there are many computers to repair/cases to resolve, and that, I assume, was the reason it took so long to repair my computer. But I would appreciate being given the right information.

		13415/1		It took the staff weeks to order and replace the faulty components on my Dell E6400. During that time, I went without my research laptop. I wish IS&T had offered me a loaner laptop, especially once they knew that the repairs would be time consuming. I endured a lot of stress due to my computer's problems (faulty upon delivery to me) and the lack of care shown by IS&T with regard to my situation. You can feel free to contact me, if you'd like. Melissa mzgola@mit.edu

		1343190		As usual, all your staff are absolutely fabulous and I can't say enough about how helpful they are. In addition to explaining what to do over the phone, the follow-up email I received from the Help Desk, with a link to the Stellar tutorial, was really great because I had to send this to about 15 faculty who were off-site in case they ran into problems.
		40.40000		A simple question: Why does my screen warm me that OWA is not a trusted address. The first time the staff member said I should make it an exception. The second time the staff member 1343000		Lisa Robinson provided the best help I've ever received from the Help Desk. It was a difficult problem, but she stuck with it until we solved it, suggesting that I make backups of some files before we proceeded, and even staying on speakerphone in order to answer my questions while I made those backups. Afterward, I was able to help a colleague who was having a similar problem using the information Lisa shared with me. Lisa is stellar! and I greatly appreciated her help. If she's helping other people the way she helped me, she deserves one of those Institute-wide awards for service.

		1343000	3.00	Maybe I didn't make myself clear, but I feel like I was not

		1339549	5.00	IS and T is one of the best things about working at MIT! I do not think it was an MIT issue. Perhaps since i am a remote user, i did not carefully understand the expiration date on my

				The response to my questions was slightly cryptic and vague. I needed ask for clarification. When I asked about a related case that I had not had any reply to yet the response was "this is being handled". That doesn't tell me anything about my Network::Requests	1345823	3 33	question.
		107020	3.33	I always like to hear what the problem was in addition to the fact that it is fixed. I understand this is sometimes hard to do when the technical competence of the user is not known, TNIS::Trouble Calls	1342843	3.33	though.

				Even a perfunctory (human) response and acknowledgment to my additional comments would have gone a long way toward making me feel better about the time it took to get this resolved. "We're very busy and will get to it as soon as possible" would 9/13/2010	TNIS::Trouble Calls	1336506	0.83	be nice. Not closing the ticket prematurely would also be nice.

				As I emailed, my problem was extra, I assume pre-registered,students showing up on the Membership page of my section Stellar sites. The first advice to "block" them so I could send out emails and not send to them was great and prompt. Then, in a couple of days these extras were eliminated from one of my section sites, but not the other. So, that was half-great.
		1338098	4.17	Thanks for your help! LM
				Staff were able to explain why I was having the problem I experienced (MIT Directory search limit), tho I was dissatisfied that the hindrance this posed to my ability to complete my work-related responsibilities was only surmountable by incorporating delays into my directory search. This was not the fault of the staff assisting me, but apparently with the way the MIT Directory search function was designedit doesn't distinguish between an MIT searcher and any random internet searcher, so automatically stops searching after several names 1337714	4.17	are entered.
				I was very pleased with the help that I received. It took a bit of time work out the possible issues, but the phone tech stayed with it until we found the problem. I was curious why having five expired certificates suddenly became a problem; this could not be explainedbut not really important since I'm up and 1337156		going.
		1337 130	7.17	going.
		1336788	5 00	The only issue is that the name I use with my students and publish under is slightly different than my legal name. I would prefer for the wiki to state my name as "Fox Harrell" or "D. Fox Harrell," but I cannot make this change myself in the system (I tried). This is probably not a common issue, so I think that ticket was handled very well.
		1336043		Very Nice! Thanks a lot!

				Took 5 days for somebody to get back to me - would have been nice to hear something before that, even it is that people
		400000		are aware of the problem and working on it, and a workaround
		1333080	4.17	for the mean time (e.g. use web access instead of Outlook).
		1332226	4.17	I actually figured out the problem before any staff was needed. Thank you! I wish I remembered the name of the person who 1325766	5.00	helped me ;)
	Help Desk::Service Center	1335216		My issue was resolved extremely quickly, and the staff were very friendly and knowledgeable - excellent service!
				Communication could have been better during the week I was waiting for the ticket to be resolved. I was told that I would receive a phone call or email when a technician figured out what the problem was, but I was never contacted. Also, I was not informed when the new part arrived or even when the 4207004		laptop was fixed. Had I not called almost every day, I would not 1327221	4.17	have had any idea what was going on with my laptop.
				Would have been nice to have the response serve up what I needed to do in a more convenient manner (e.g., links) or even to handle the obvious change themselves, but nevertheless the Help Desk::Stellar	1336641		response was adequate to the problem.
				problem was solved before staff could respond, but all went

					I experienced frustration initially because the technician assigned to support me wasn't familiar with my PDA. He wiped my phone without understanding that this was an inherent part of the process for disconnecting my phone from my previous employer's server. He also told me my phone wouldn't be wiped. My confidence would have been greater and frustration less had the technician advised me to back-up my data. Fortunately, my data was backed up so I didn't suffer a permanent loss. I was subsequently supported by a technician who better understood my device and knew what he 9/6/2010	Mobile Devices	1337612		was doing. I was please with the support he provided.
			1335756	5.00	tips to Justin Fleming I was very impressed with Matt's work. I had asked for the enterprise activation password a while back and did not use it because my plan at the time did not support it. Matt saw that I had not activated my account and reached out to me. He was also very responsive and quick to help me answer my 1332694	5.00	questions. Thanks for the Excellent Service!!
					I get the absolute best of service from the Help desk. I particularly appreciate it when small things that are important Network::Requests	1335804	5.00	to us are done so quickly. Dave
					I report a broken computer. The first guy says he'll look at it "tomorrow," and then I don't hear back from him for a MONTH.
					He passes it off to a second guy, who asks me which printer is broken. Did he even bother to read the e-mails? Finally, a third guy finds the problem, and says he'll CHARGE ME to fix it.
					Why? It's not my computer! Since when did the person reporting a problem have to pay to fix it? (I declined to pay, and RCC::BriggsField	1278688	0.83	then never heard back from them.)
		RCC::EastCampus	1341026	5.00
					In general, the response was not fast. Only one response per day and it was hard to get a useful suggestion at the beginning.
					The issue took few days to resolve, which is out of my RCC::NorthWest	1334266	3.33	expectation. However, it was resolved finally.
					my ticket (a long-running, difficult-to-debug help request regarding my dorm Ethernet connection) was closed without comment or notification. I do appreciate the difficulty of my particular request and generally found the RCCs to be helpful, but to close a long-standing ticket without verifying that the problem is indeed resolvedparticularly after no correspondence has been sent to the user for two monthsis extremely off-putting. In fact, the only notification I got that my ticket was closed was receiving a request to fill out this survey!
					In the past, the RCCs had set up a system where they would contact a user to verify whether the issue was still occurring, and set the ticket to autoclose if they didn't hear back. Could something like this (either technically, or manually) be implemented in the new RT system? Aside from the premature closure of my ticket, the response felt a little slow, though it'! s about what I expected given the sporadic nature of the issue and the complexity of diagnosing the problem. In RCC::WestCampus	1202974	1.67	particular, I didn't have a problem with the time taken working 1312810	3.33	It would be nice to have the name of a person with that person's MIT phone extension and separate email address, who acts as the contact point. The system now is too impersonal. 			1323255	5.00	Audrey Dobek-Bell It would have been helpful if the info to resolve my problem was online and there was a link to submit an online request. I

				I believe the person who helped me was Jacob. I could be Explained things well, walked me through my options, etc. And In general instruct your staff to speak slowly, and clearly. It is especially difficult when dealing with staff members who are not native English speakers. Many tend too garble their words 1200545	2.00	and speak at a pace appropriate to their own native language

		1308515	3.33	which is very often fast relative to that common in US.

				Only thing I can think of is to be even quicker, although you 8/9/2010	Help Desk::Call Center	1308313	5.00	already were very quick.
				Webmail was intermittently hosed over the weekend. I just needed some confirmation that it was, in fact, webmail that was hosed, and not my setup. As soon as somebody started looking at the ticket queue on Monday, they got right back to 1308106		me with enough info. What more could anybody do? Nice job! and thanks again.
		1306100	5.00	and thanks again.
				I ended up solving the problem on my ownI had to restore the factory settings on my iPhone to install the MIT certificates. However, the technician I talked with was excellent and offered 1304344		to work on my phone if I brought it in.
				My question was more organizational than technical in nature (I was trying to figure out who in IS&T I should contact about something, as opposed to getting an immediate problem solved), so maybe this wasn't the right forum for it. Even so, the first response I got back was frustrating because it didn't
			į.	address my actual question, as if the representative hadn't actually read my email, or did read it but didn't know the answer, so decided to respond to a different question instead. I would have preferred an "I don't know", which would at least
			ļ.	have saved me the time re-explaining myself. The second response was better because it gave me another email address to which I could direct my question, but it still felt like the staff 1304263		wasn't equipped to deal with this kind of inquiry.
				My only negative comment is that I'd asked to be notified by 1.5	phone of any updates when I dropped off my laptop simply because I wouldn't be checking my email as religiously without a laptop, but instead only got the emailed updates to the ticket. Ticket responses were quite prompt and it worked out without a problem in the end, but I imagine this could be more Help Desk::Service Center	1312080	5.00	problematic for someone without a smart phone. Matt Sullivan was fantastic. He was extremely responsive and Mobile Devices	1305445	5.00 I	knowledgeable.
				My original question was forwarded to matlab from IS&T and there was no response. After a couple of days I emailed matlab directly and in the response the staff said they thought they had answered this ticket already. Not sure what happened. I needed a timely response and I still don't have a complete Software::Matlab::Questions	1308262	1.67	answer to my question(s). Thanks for allowing the feedback!
				It would have been nice to be informed when I was back online. I went in, checked it myself and used it more than an

	Help Desk::Stellar	1304236	0.83	My overall dealings with Stellar this week have been horrible. There has been complete confusion about a simple request to provide websites for multiple sections of a class (21W.730) taught by different instructors. In addition, when I applied for a website for my other course, SP.401, Intro to Women's and Gender Studies, I was told that the course wasn't listed in the registrar's schedule. When I found the listing in about 5 seconds and sent it to Stellar, I was told that the problem was that the course was listed as SP-401, when it should have been SP.401. That may or may not be true, but wouldn't it make sense to check under SP.401? The impression is that these transactions are being handled completely by machine and not by an individual. Very, very poor service. The ticket (requesting information) was logged on July 29th and I was contacted about the ticket about a week later. During that time, I was able to address my issue dealing directly with external (SAP) technical resources (I probably should have closed the ticket at that point). The support I receive from the Network team is usually very good an understanding as to the

				The first time I sent the message it appears the staff skimmed over the original message and answered the wrong question. My question was never directly answered, although I made my situation even more clear in the second e-mail. It was a pretty straightforward question about product keys, but the staff seemed more interested in just telling me to go download the 7/26/2010 Help Desk::Call Center	1284100 1283108		ISO again rather than answering the actual question. No complaints overall, it was frustrating to have problems with the VPN to begin withI spent a lot of time and money trying to sort out this problemonly to learn it was systemic, rather than a personal problem with my own computer/modem/internet connection speed. Perhaps this issue could not have been predicted
		1273537	4.17	I was having difficulty accessing Oracle calendar. I found out that we were not using Oracle anymore but using iCal, so they were really unable to help, as there was nothing they could do.
		1262807	0.83	The staff wouldn't believe there was a localized technical problem with a routine network service. They had to be told many times by multiple people over the course of a month that a network service wasn't properly configured. Backchannel emails on the tickets that leaked to the users indicated that the staff believed the users who were having trouble were simply incompetent and sought to forward the issue to a call center instead of thoroughly investigated whether there was an actual problem. It finally involved the recruitment of multiple administrators at a high level to get the issue addressed. This was a very dissatisfying experience for sure.
		1202001	0.00	Not having uploaded (large) files for ftp for several, having gotten lazy/used to just using web browsers for ftp downloads and email for sending, I needed a quick refresher on using Fetch for uploading. A quick lesson during a brief walkin was all I needed both the official help desk person and other staff present were friendly, professional, and efficient. One suggestion, though an FAQ that browsers generally can be used for downloading larger files these days, but that Fetch (or the Windows etc equivalent) is still needed for uploading,

				They did change the hard drive (this was the actual hard problem) but the hard drive comes without a boot partition so I was not able to even turn the computer on. 	Help Desk::UNIX/Linux	1297326		This particular problem, needing to reboot the RedHat linux package server, is a recurring one. Rebooting the server allows me to patch but hopefully a more permananent fix is being worked on. As always, I am very happy with the response of IS&T when I have a problem.
	RCC::EastCampus	1127808	2 50	Improve your ties to TNIS so that tickets like this don't take 6 months and three visits by you to resolve. Alternately, have someone knowlegeable about the actual network (rather than just computers) show up on the follow-up visits so that they are able to do something/ diagnose in a way other than what I am able to do myself (internet speed checks).

					While I realize the issue was one that was outside MIT Help Desk expertise, I've had such good experiences with the Help Desk in the past, that I guess I expect miracles. My dissatisfaction is more a matter that some of people helping me

		Find some state of the state of	computing-help, I was able to pinpoint the source of the problem. Unfortunately, computing-help was not able to identify the actual cause and therefore could not suggest a solution or more importantly a means to determine if the problem happens again. The problem is rather esoteric so I am not sure that it would be reasonable to expect computing-help to resolve it. Computing-help did a good job in helping with my individual problem, but I would have liked to see someone address it at a higher level. As things stand now, any use of ESS on tables with compound keys is suspect. That includes accessing most of the data warehouse tables. I would think that the IS&T folks who are recommending FileMaker, especially as a tool to access the Data Warehouse, would want to confirm that something in my table definitions or the way I set up the ESS caused the problem, and probably identify what was wrong so they could instruct o! thers not to make the same mistake. The fact that I'm the only one reporting this problem doesn't mean it isn't happening elsewhere. The nature

Then the response did not indicate whether anything might have been done in those 24 hours to fix the problem simply that at that point it looked like it was working. The problem I had reported had in fact gone away, but the update service was still not working at the time that I got the response. Instead, any attempt to run up2date produced the dreaded message to the effect that the metafile had a bad checksum. I tried using "yum clean" followed by "yum update" to make sure that the problem was not something at our end. That didn't fix it. This condition had happened in my experience numerous times in the past and it was always corrected when the MIT satellite was put back into synchronization with the RedHat servers. It was because of this ongoing problem that we had switched most of our servers over from the MIT satellite service to using the paid-for commercial serv! ice directly from RedHat.
